Home Improvement Tips

Your Sky lit Room

Windows require regular maintenance and cleaning in general. It's worth it, because they give us sunshine and a breeze during the day. Skylights are a little different. One advantage to them is that the maintenance and cleaning required is minimal, compared to the rest of the windows in the home. When installed and positioned properly, the rain will wash away most of the exterior debris. The interior dust collection is also minimized simply by its location. However, occasional cleaning will still be needed. Condensation, dirt, spider webs, and various determinants will cause dirt to gather slightly overtime.

An overexcited attempt to clean can often cause damage. It's good to check it for pre-existing damage, but don't clean it more than you need to.

Ranger Tree Experts take pride in their tree services using the best equipment available and efficient, immaculate cleanup. There's no doubt about it: dealing with large trees is dangerous work. There are lots of stories about how a homeowner decided to take down a tree with the help of some friends, and the end result was a damaged house, a destroyed car, or personal injury. The cliché "don't try this at home" definitely applies!

Their technologies provide the most cost effective solutions available today, protecting your investment for the long-term, focusing on meeting real needs, not the quick fix. Our reputation is built on professional service with incomparable value. Customers benefit not only from their technology, but years of experience, observation and ongoing research into which solutions last.

We were very pleased with The Pipe Guys. They pit in a new sewer and reconnected the drain lines. They were very professional and offered a more feasible solution than we had previously considered which saved our patio from damage. They did exactly what they said they would and finished on time. The crew was great - very respectful. We were extremely happy with the entire process. ~ Fran & Jesse - Tacoma WA

I had roots growing into the sewer pipes. They cleaned and repaired the pipes. The system works well now. I was very satisfied and would use again. Highly recommend. ~ Kevin - University Place WA
